DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This action is in response to the amendment mailed February 25, 2003.
 Claim 1 was amended. Examilner regrets the untimely reopening of the case and withdraws the previous rejections to further prosecute the claimed invention. Claims 1-5 are pending in this case.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103(a)

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saaski et al. (U.S. 4,778,987) in view of Forrest et al (U.S. 5,315,129).
- 4. Saaski discloses a measuring device (column 1, lines 23-24) providing a high degree of resolution in measuring physical parameters (column 1, lines 36-37). Saaski discloses calibrated measuring device (column 2, lines 67-68) which serves the same function as a scale for technical devices. The reference discloses two or more alternating layers of different materials (column 18, lines 67-68) with each layer being about 25 and 100 Angstroms thick, respectively (2.5nm and 10nm) (column 19, lines 2-

4). Saaski further discloses one layer being crystalline (column 29, line 20). Because the reference uses the same materials as applicant and because the first and second material layers are made out of different materials and different thicknesses, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that the first and second material layers have different strain and band gaps, absent any evidence to the contrary. Additionally, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to include third and fourth material layers because the reference teaches two or more alternating layers meaning third and fourth material layers can be added to the invention. Saaski does not explicitly disclose chrome being crystalline.

Forrest teaches measuring devices with alternating crystalline layers (abstract and column 1, line 64 through column 2, line 27). Saaski and Forrest are analogous art because they are from the same field of measuring devices. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to include an additional crystalline layer in the measuring device of Saaski because Forrest teaches the crystalline layer can be very thin and give enhanced properties (column 2, lines 1-27).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's remarks to 35 USC 112, second paragraph have been overcome due to amendment by Applicant. Applicant's remarks to 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saaski et al. (U.S. 4,778,987) in view of Fischer (U.S. 5,929,633) have been considered and are most based on grounds of new rejection.
